END OF WORLD

"NEW WORLD COMING"

There's a new world coming,
And it's just around the bend.
There's a new world coming:
This one's coming to an end.

There's a new voice calling;
You can hear it if you try,
And it's growing stronger
With each day that passes by.

There's a brand new morning,
Rising clear and sweet and free;
There's a new day dawning
That belongs to you and me.

Yes, a new world's coming,
The one we've had visions of —
Coming in peace, coming in joy, coming in love.

Within the lyrics of this current hit song for Mama Cass lies the Christian's confidence about his future. For Jesus Christ's death on the cross and subsequent resurrection in fulfillment of His predictions is absolute proof that He will come again -- but this time as King to claim those who believe in and serve Him, as He promised. The Apostle Paul writes to the Thessalonians of this wonderful day: "For the Lord Himself will descend from heaven with a shout, with the voice of the archangel, and with the trumpet of God; and the dead in Christ shall rise first. Then we who are alive and remain shall be caught up together with them in the clouds to meet the Lord in the air, and thus, we shall always be with the Lord." (I Thessalonians 4:16, 17)

The new world that's coming belongs only to those who are in Christ, but there is but one entrance requirement where His "forever family" is concerned: Jesus says in John 6:40, "For this is the will of my Father, that every one who beholds the Son, and believes in Him, may have eternal life: and I Myself will raise him up on the last day." Christ does not say, "Sorry, buddy, but according to our records your SPH* average is too high for us to do business at this time. But perhaps if you abstain from killing, stealing, lying, coveting, committing adultery, taking my name in vain, working on the sabbath day, and worshipping other gods, for, shall we say, 3 years, then we might consider reviewing your application at that time." No! God doesn't expect us to clean up our lives on our own. In fact, knowing that we can't do it alone, He sent His only Son to suffer to the point of death on the cross so that we, while still sinners, might be put right with God by merely responding to this act of unconditional love and turning to Jesus Himself. Paul writes of this in II Corinthians 5:17: "When anyone is joined to Christ he is a new being: the old is gone, the new has come."

If you haven't yet entered into a personal relationship with Jesus Christ, then He's standing at the door to your heart at this very moment and knocking. He won't force His way in -- you've got to sincerely want Him in your life. The choice is yours. Let Him in, and you can learn of the abundant life He has in store for you here and now. And then that "new world coming" that's "just around the bend" will belong to you, too.

*Sins Per Hour

"Today, wealthy financier James Williams was found hanging from a light fixture in his private suite at the Waldorf Astoria. Police have classified the death as suicide. Williams, recently rated the richest man in the country by Playboy magazine, was pronounced dead on arrival at Philadelphia General Hospital."

Fiction? Sure. But scenes such as this are being repeated every day in middle and upper class homes throughout the country, homes where the individuals have all the material comforts that life has to offer. Why? The rich and wealthy are beginning to realize that there is a great deal more to life than having a huge house, 3 color TV's, and 3 Cadillacs. They are experiencing an emptiness in their souls, a spiritual vacuum placed there by God, a vacuum which must be filled in order for any man to live a joyful complete life.

Along with creating this spiritual vacuum in man, God also provided a way for man to be filled. 2000 years ago God sent his son down to earth, to fill man's spiritual needs, to save man from his sins, and to give him a full abundant life. This man was Jesus, the Son of God. Jesus said, "Do not be anxious for your life, as to what you shall eat; nor for your body, as to what you shall put on. For life is more than food, and the body than clothing. Sell your possessions and give to charity; make yourselves purses which do not wear out, an unfailling treasure in heaven, where no thief comes near, nor moth destroys."

Jesus offers a life worth more than all the riches and glory that the world has to offer. All He asks is that we believe in Him as the Son of God, and love Him, just as He loves us. Hung up by the money mad materialistic world of today? Trust and believe in Jesus Christ, He died on a cross, just so you could.

michael gets out of krishna, into christ

The reason why I went into the Krishna temple was that I wanted some spiritual experiences. Before I went into the temple, I had some bad trips on acid, about a year ago last summer. I wanted spiritual realization so I took drugs.

I waited until I got out of high school. I got out early so I could hang out with what the newspapers called "hippies." I was hearing that they were true Christians, that they were really living in love, what my parents and the generation that raised me were talking about but weren't living. And I was unhappy with the hypocrisy that I was seeing in the school system and a lot of other places, and with the wars. So I thought in the hippie movement there might be something good, and when I got out of high school I started taking dope.

I got into listening to music. Then I started reading things I'd never read before -- Buddhist scriptures, Timothy Leary -- about spiritual realization. I decided on acid that there was more to it than me. So I split from Wisconsin because I wanted real spiritual realization that I wasn't getting from acid. All acid was doing was making me realize how miserable I was. Oh, there were nice trips too, sensual trips. I was thinking I was God and I was very lonely in that position, I didn't have anybody to keep me company. Then I'd come down and decide that, wow, this was really getting to be a bummer. So I split a few days after a really heavy trip -- I freaked out and wrote all over the walls of my parents' home. So a couple of weeks later I decided it was time for me to leave that situation because there wasn't any spiritual realization movement that I knew of in that area.

So I went to the west coast to become a yogi or something. Before I left I promised this one girl that I would eventually read the Bible, after I read some of the other scriptures, maybe, but I'd eventually get around to it. But I really didn't have any intention to read the Bible after I entered the Krishna temple -- at first I did, but they talked me out of it.

So I came out to Los Angeles -- and about two days later somebody told me about the Krishna temple there and that I should come up to San Francisco for the Rathia Festival. This is a big parade they have. They dance, and put the deities in a cart and the spiritual master rides in the cart. The deities are wooden statues, about three feet high, three of them, and they sit over the spiritual master, the Swami. There were about a hundred monks who pulled this cart from Haight Street down to the sea, just like they do in India. In India it's called the Jaganath Cart Festival, and the people used to throw themselves under the wheels of the cart, praising the Lord Jaganath. It's a very ecstatic festival. And I started chanting Hare Krishna at that Festival, I chanted the whole parade, and I thought it was really beautiful. So I moved into the temple on a trial basis about a week later in Berkeley -- last summer.

The only requirements for getting into the temple are that you chant a little bit before and that you knew something about it and were sincere. I didn't really dig the idea of shaving my head, but I thought I'd try it and see. They shave their heads to show renunciation from worldly things -- it's a Vedic tradition. The spiritual master says you'll become more spiritually realized if you do this, but you're not required to do it. This is the nature of all things that they do in Krishna temples. On the recommendation of spiritual advancement of the spiritual master -- they say you become closer to God by doing these things, closer to God consciousness. Not that the acts in themselves are worthy, but by pleasing the spiritual master you please God, because the spiritual master is closer than anyone to God, in fact, you treat him like God himself.

So I went into the temple and started chanting. And I got really stoned on chanting. I felt pretty satisfied spiritually -- I felt I was on the right track. From time to time I would feel some doubt from my Christian background -- I was sent to a certain church that had given me some contact with the message of Christ. But I never received Christ so I guess it was all just words. I never felt any closeness to the person of Christ, in fact it was more of a Jehovah kind of trip -- I didn't know the word then but it was, Pray to God the Father. I'd say at the end of the prayer "In Jesus' name we pray" because I was taught to, but I really didn't know what it meant.

So when I first came into the Krishna movement I was agnostic, I'd forgotten everything I'd learned as a child after all that dope and after studying anthropology. I'd given up my Christian teaching at about the seventh grade and I went into scientific things. I'd forgotten about Christ until I went into the temple. It was there in the temple that I was reminded of Jesus -- they'd bring up Jesus in their lectures. So I started praying then, saying that I wasn't convinced that there was any particular way to God but that I knew God was there. I thought I was God when I was taking acid, but I didn't know the means of finding him. And you know, it was enough trouble trying to realize who God was -- I didn't even know who I was, and I had to find that out. I guess you really can't apart from God know who you are because you know yourself in relation to God.

But after I remembered Jesus again through the Krishna temple I started praying that whoever was listening -- whether it was Krishna or Jesus -- would take me on the right path. And behold -- my prayer has been answered! But that comes later.

After I went into the temple I'd talk to Christians occasionally on the streets. I never read the Bible, but I'd listen to the Christians when they read it, which was not prescribed method in the temple. I'd try to convince them about Krishna, but I'd keep an open ear to what they were answering. I'd throw them questions and see what kind of answers they'd have. David was the first Christian I ran into. He asked me some questions that I really didn't have the answers to, and I went back to the temple and they said, "See, those Christians try to make you feel guilty." See, I ran from him, I said I had to go, because I didn't know the answers to his questions. I guess that was nail number one.

Then after that there was a woman, Irene. She goes around the streets and talks about prophecies, and carries a really violent picture of the crucifixion. I saw her once on the street and she said, "Isn't that beautiful?" and I thought, "What are you talking about?" You know, I just didn't see it the way she did. But I talked to her, and she said, "Well, I'm sure you're on the right path. I've got faith in your Krishna boys, even if you have to wait until after the Tribulation, I'm sure some of you are going to come through, because you're sincere."

Then there was another Christian, Leon. He was very peaceful and I really liked him -- he was soft spoken. Leon wouldn't come to the temple, and he wouldn't take prasadam on the streets because he said it was offered to idols. "Prasadam" means "mercy." It's supposedly spiritual food which is offered to the supreme Lord by placing it on an altar before the deities. So I talked to Leon a few times. We'd always end our conversations with "Praise the Lord" and "Hare Krishna." I tried to convince him that "Hare Krishna" meant the same thing, but he wouldn't see it that way because he meant the Lord Jesus. We were saying "Praise God" and he was saying "Praise Jesus."

The Krishna people say that really good Christians would be worshipping Christ just like we worship Krishna, and all good Christians you would find are really in the Krishna movement. They say that Krishna is the Supreme Lord. They say Christ was another spiritual master, and a spiritual master is treated the same as God because he is so close to God.

Soon after that I transferred to the San Francisco Temple. There weren't any street Christians in the area of the temple. We were always down in North Beach chanting and collecting money, -- it was like taking taxes on the nude shows, I ran into one Christian there that I remember distinctly. He told me about a person -- David Hoyt -- who had been a member of the Hare Krishna movement and had been a caretaker of the temple -- there is no such person as a caretaker now but in the early part of the movement there was. I'd heard from one of my brothers in the Hare Krishna movement that he had thrown such a person out of the temple and he came back calling the spiritual master a demon. I related that to the Christian and he told me the story of how David had a vision in the basement of the temple and had stopped chanting for one week so he could pray. I said, well, chanting is prayer, and I said, I'm a Christian too or I wouldn't be here, because I am doing what Christ said to do, glorifying God the Father, Krishna. And he said that this David Hoyt had put a Bible on the altar and fell down and worshipped it and the altar caught on fire and everything on it burned except for the Bible. Well, that story had some effect on me so I told it to some of my "godbrothers" at the temple and they kind of freaked, but then somebody changed the subject. But I kept this in the back of my head.

Then we went to the peace March last November. The Krishna temple goes to these things to collect money. To chant Hare Krishna too, but that's being played down in the San Francisco temple because they're trying to make money to buy a new temple and they need $40,000. So I went out and collected two bowlfuls of money for the temple and I got so involved in collecting that I wandered away from my "godbrothers." We were always supposed to stay with our brothers so that if they saw a brother falling into maya -- the illusions of worldly life -- they could bring him back.

But I wandered away from them and then I ran into Dale. He started talking to me about Jesus. Actually we weren't supposed to talk about philosophy on the streets for more than a minute but I was interested so I talked to Dale. We went into the park and sat on the grass and he read to me out of the Bible. First he asked me if we accepted the Bible as bonafide scripture. At that time the temple did accept the Bible. Since then they have changed their opinion of the Bible and they now say it has "the ring of truth" but isn't true scripture. But I said I accepted the Bible so he read me some passages. First he read the part when Christ said, "I am the way, the truth, and the life, no man comes to the Father except through me." But that didn't work, because I told him there was another interpretation to that. The Krishna temple says that to have Christ is to have his teaching, his Word, and to come to the Father through him is to follow his teaching, to praise the Father, Krishna. So then he gave me the words of Jesus when he said, "When you pray, use not vain repetitions, as the heathen do." This struck me, because Christ prayed to his Father just like he was talking to another person instead of chanting. So we decided to pray that God, whoever he was, would show me the truth. When we finished praying, I felt that Krishna was far away, or that I was far away from him. So then we talked some more and then I told him I wanted to receive Jesus, which blew his mind. But I had just felt something building up in me since I started talking to him, and finally I realized what it was, that I wanted to receive Jesus.

You are not to be called rabbi,

And call no man your father on earth,

Film Preview: MASH

M-A-S-H: a Twentieth Century-Fox presentation, an Ingo Preminger Production, rated "R", directed by Robert Altman, starring Donald Sutherland, Elliot Gould, and a cast of mostly film unknowns, principally from the Committee in San Francisco, (to be released around the end of February).

"Men will love nothing but money and self; they will be arrogant, and boastful, and abusive; with no respect for parents, no gratitude, no piety, no natural affection; they will be implacable in their hatreds, scandal-mongers, intemperate and fierce, strangers to all goodness, traitors, adventurers, swollen with self-importance." And so Paul, writing his second letter to Timothy, about nineteen hundred years ago, described men as they would be in the last days, not only as they would be in reality, but as they would glorify themselves in mediums of expression, such as film. And truly this film glorifies man and the belief among them, that anything goes, anything is all right.

MASH is a service comedy set in an army base hospital in Korea, where those lovable, playful army surgeons Hawkeye, Trapper John, Major Hot Lips, and all the rest of the "basically good" gang romp through adultery, blasphemy, lots of boozes and drugs, and just about anything else that is a self-centered action, all done in the guise of insanity and absurdity. At least that's what the sad, self satisfied figure of a director, Robert Altman, said when he got up before a special preview audience of UCLA Theatre Arts students, who couldn't praise him enough for his "honest and hilarious" film. He told us that it was a film about insanity, and that is why he was such a sad figure. He actually believed that that which he had brought to the screen was insanity, rather than the best done personification of man's disobedience to the one element in this lost world that can give him true happiness, and real meaning, the one element that can save him from the hopelessness of himself. He was actually so blind as to believe that he was dealing with wonderful, laughable insanity, and not man's sad state of separation from God, the sad state of sin.

I suppose it is ironic that the director and characters in the story continually make reference to Jesus, the Messiah, only when they need a ready profanity to assert their highly esteemed selves. Brothers and Sisters, pray for the world, and love every man in it, even as God loves them, remembering always that they are blind to the Light, to the Truth, Jesus, the Messiah.

Living in our complex world we have to make many choices. Some of these choices are extremely important because they can have a permanent effect. Three big choices for us today are the Draft, Education and Work. The choices, although very important, are material or physical choices and won't be the last choice we have to make. Every time we make a choice and live with it through success or failure, we still must live on and choose. What Next? or How am I going to live on, for what and why? All material things, clothes, cars, food, housing, had a beginning and are therefore coming to an end. What we are looking for today is something that lasts; something that will stick to us forever and never leave us.

An ultimate forever trip! Man's downfall is that he pays no heed to the law. Man looks for material things to truly satisfy his mind. Here is where man becomes at odds with the law. The physical law states that physical things had a beginning and therefore will have an ending. So nothing of true meaningful value that lasts can come from physical or material things.

This is why a tent maker named Paul wrote in Roman 8:6 "It is death to limit oneself to what is unspiritual (physical). Life and peace can only come with concern for the spiritual." Paul goes on to say in verse 8 "People who are interested only in unspiritual (physical) things can never be pleasing God." Catch that! you think that the "In" thing to do is to have a fast car, boss clothes, a massive record collection of all the "In" people, or take dope - well look again. Those interested in physical things aren't pleasing God and can never be pleasing him. Far Out?

"Well what do I do to please God?" you ask "How do I find Spiritual things?" Jesus Christ tells us in John 14:6 "I am the Way, the Truth and the Life. No one can come to the Father except through me (Truth and Life). From this moment you know Him and have seen Him. Dig that for a second.....Truth and Life in Jesus Christ is how we see and know Him! When we see Jesus today we don't see Him in His physical body (the physical body has an end because it had a beginning) but we as Christians have Jesus Christ alive and living in us in the Spirit (Truth and Life). Spiritual things are one with God -- God is a Spirit -- He has no beginning and He will have no end! The ultimate trip! In Jesus Christ we have the greatest spiritual gifts, truth and life. Think about what truth and life means to you, Brothers and Sisters. Isn't truth and life what all of us are seeking? All God says here is "Here it is", and to make it easy for you, you have My Son who lived Truth. All you have to do is accept it. John 1:12 "But to all who did accept Him, He gave power to become children of God, to all who believe on His name."

All you have to do is accept Truth and Life in Jesus Christ. It's free Brothers and Sisters and simple. God so loved the world that he gave -- do you love enough to receive?

God loves you and has the heaviest life style for you.

HIS LOVE:

"God loved the world so much that He gave His unique Son so that anyone who believes in Him shall not perish but have eternal life." John 3:16

HIS LIFE STYLE FOR YOU:

"No mere man has ever seen, heard or even imagined what wonderful things God has ready for those who love Him." I Corinthians 2:9

EVERY PERSON HAS GONE HIS OWN WAY RATHER THAN GOD'S AND IS SEPARATED FROM GOD SO HE CANNOT KNOW GOD'S LOVE OR EXPERIENCE HIS LIFE-STYLE.

People were created to groove on God, but our stubborn selves caused us to go our way rather than His, so our contact with Him was broken.

"All have purposely done their own thing rather than God's; all fall short of God's ideal." Romans 3:23

SEPARATION FROM GOD:

"For the wages of going our way rather than God's is death." (spiritual separation from God) Romans 6:23
Some of the results of that separation are worry, irritability, and lack of purpose in life as well as the heavier things like murder and stealing.

A great chasm separates man and God. Man's best efforts to bridge this chasm—doing good, tripping out, meditating, religion, etc.—are not enough.

"When we put on the robes of our own righteousness, God sees them as filthy rags." Isaiah 64:6

Jesus Christ is God's bridge. He makes it possible for you to know God's love and have His life style.

"God showed His great love for us by sending Christ to die for us while we were still going our way rather than His." Romans 5:8

"Christ also suffered. He died once for the waywardness of all of us who were going our way rather than God's, although He Himself was innocent of any wrong at any time, that He might bring us to God." I Peter 3:18

"Jesus said, I am the way, the truth, and the life. No one can get to the Father except by means of me." John 14:6

When you receive Jesus Christ as liberator and leader, you will know God's love and have His life style.

"All who receive Him, He makes children of God. All they have to do is trust Him to liberate them." John 1:12

"I am standing at the door and constantly knocking. If anyone hears me calling and opens the door, I will come in and talk with him spirit to spirit." Revelation 3:20

Here's how it adds up:

1. God loves you and has the heaviest life style for you.
2. Every person has gone his own way and is separated from God, so he cannot know and experience God's love and life style.
3. Jesus Christ is God's bridge. He makes it possible for you to know God's love and have His life style.
4. When you receive Jesus Christ as liberator and leader, you will know God's love and have His life style.

You can receive Jesus Christ right now by asking Him. Just talk to Him spirit to spirit. He knows what you feel inside, so your words are not as important as your attitude. You might say something like:

"Dear Jesus, I know I have done wrong. I am willing to turn from going my way. I open the door of my life and receive you as my liberator and leader. Thank you for forgiving me. Take control of my life center. Make me the kind of person you want me to be."

If that expresses your desire, then just tell Him and He will come into your life as He promised.

"This is what God has said: That He has given us eternal life, and that this life is in His Son. So whoever has God's Son has life; whoever does not have His Son, does not have life. I have written this to you who believe in His Son so that you may know you have eternal life." I John 5:11-13

You are now a member of God's family and have many real brothers and sisters. Look for them, rap with them, and get to know them.

This will help you to know Him better and represent Him here:

1. Read His words and those of His children. I Peter 2:2
2. Talk with Him in every kind of situation. Philipians 4:6,7
3. Get together with other members of His family. Hebrews 10:25
4. Tell others about Him. Mark 5:19
5. Help other members of His family. Ephesians 4:29
